THE LAW SCHOOL AND THE CLIMATE CRISIS REPORT FORM

Name	Institution
Richard Ridyard Alison Lui	Liverpool John Moores University Liverpool John Moores University

Title of project
The Climate Crisis and the Teaching of Law: Who? What? How?

Date of award	Amount of award
08/03/2024	£1000

Total cost of project (list briefly other sources and amounts of funding, if applicable)
£3000 (which covered the cost of a research assistant, premium SurveyMonkey subscription, and gift cards for survey participants). £2000 came from LJMU QR funding.

Brief report on project (maximum 150 words)

This is a survey-based project that is working towards a greater understanding of the attitudes and teaching activities of academics in UK Law Schools concerning climate change. The generous SLS 'The Law School and the Climate Crisis' Fund Award contributed towards the hiring of a research assistant to support the development and rollout of the survey.

The survey was circulated to every Law School in the UK. Now that the submission window is closed, analysis of the results is underway. The survey data will offer a unique insight, at a sector-wide level, into the approaches being taken to teaching climate change in UK Law Schools. We will be identifying trends as well as examples of best practice. Additionally, we aim to use the survey data to help develop a set of principles that Law Schools can sign up to (similar to how Business & Management Schools can align themselves with the Principles for Responsible Management Education).

Please complete and return to the Society's Administrative Secretary, Rosa Bladon, at admin@legalscholars.ac.uk , by 30th September for publication in The Reporter and on the SLS website.